CREATE THE PERFECT GETAWAY

In Alaska you're never far from a new adventure. Anchorage is a great place to start exploring. Just south, you can get up close to a tidewater glacier on Prince William Sound. And the Fairbanks region is famous for the Northern Lights, the midnight sun, and sunrises and sunsets that last forever.

Set in southeast Alaska, the Inside Passage is known as one of the most wild, remote and beautiful places on the planet. Bordering British Columbia and the northern Pacific Ocean, and comprised of a thin strip of coastline and large islands, this region is home to the remote, historic towns of Juneau, Ketchikan and Sitka. A visit to these communities will immerse you in the nostalgia and romance of bygone days, with friendly locals, bountiful wildlife and magnificent nature.
